Notes (T) *Translated [by a friend of the Editor.]

(X) The Avena elatior of Linnaeus. Gives a few of its characteristics as also of Lolium perenne. The author mentions a Bromus sylvaticus, which, the Editor says in a footnote is not mentioned by either Linnaeus or Hudson. Suggests that the plant might be Bromus pinnatus. Mainly an article on the value of the above as sheep and cattle food, the habitats and conditions of growth are given.
