Notes Girardin had completed a critical work ^{on} the culture of Vaucluse and on the nat. hist. of the madder, p. 22. He hoped that the culture of madder would spread over other parts of France & that Normandy would again take up an agricultural industry which had been successfully run during the Middle Ages.

Robiquet, corresponding member, had sent 6 short works to Acad: including

1) Nouvelles observations sur les produits de l'opium; 2) Réflexions sur les eaux thermales de Nérès; 3) Observations sur la nature du kermès. 4) Essai Analytique des lichens et de l'oseille; reported on by Reisser pp. 29-30. [Journal articles].
