

Author(s) [M.A. Jullien? Ed.]

[Jullien de Paris, Marc-Antoine (Ed.)]

Title Égypte - culture du coton, de l'indigo, du mûrier, de l'olivier de la vigne.

Abbreviated reference ~~Rev. Encycl. [sér. 2], 29 (85): 307-308. Janvier 1826 [Jan.]~~
Rev. Encycl. [sér. 2], 29(85): 307-308. 1826 [Jan.]

MLP 1257 A

Notes Brazilian cotton was introduced into Egypt in 1823 by a M. Jumel - great expansion of growth. Encouraged by its success, the viceroy, was attempting to establish the cultivation of indigo, mulberry, olives and vines.
Taken (extract) from the Revue britannique which had, in turn, taken the information from various English journals, unspecified.

Source: BM

JEV
12 March 1970.