Notes Presented at the meeting of 8 Jan. 1831.

The manuscript was written by a M. Dubouché. It had not been published because he had left the district and had taken his work with him. Tristan thought it worth mentioning because he had listed and briefly described 230 species not included in the work by Dubois, though, in fact, some of them had been listed by Saint-Hilaire. The supplement also included notes on several plants in the Flore Orléanaise and ~~var~~ various corrections in certain genera namely verbascum and crepis.
Not traced as having been published.
